

SEARCH JOURNAL: AUTHOR'S GUIDELINES

Thank you for choosing to submit your paper to SEARCH - Journal of Media and Communication Research. The journal was indexed by SCOPUS in 2012 and indexed in ESCI Web of Science in 2016.

Submitting manuscripts in the correct format and in compliance with the requirements will expedite the review process and prevent undue delay in publication. The publisher reserves the right to reject or return manuscripts which are not prepared in accordance with the specified submission guidelines.

Manuscripts submitted to SEARCH should be original contributions and should not have been previously published nor under consideration for publication elsewhere. Individual and multiple authors are welcome to contribute. All manuscripts will be refereed through a blind review process by at least two academic experts in the particular field of the submitted paper(s) prior to acceptance. The entire review process averages three to six months.

AIMS AND SCOPE

SEARCH welcomes scholarly works on communication such as mass media, journalism studies, advertising/persuasive communication, public relations, visual communication, new communication technologies (online, computer-mediated and mobile communication media effects), interpersonal communication, political communication, health communication, popular culture and society, gender and sexuality in the media, and relevant areas from the standpoint of media and communication research.

1. MANUSCRIPT SUBMISSION

To make a successful submission, the following guidelines should be strictly adhered to:

- 1.1 Manuscripts must be in British English using Times New Roman, font size 12, double spacing and justified margins.
- 1.2 Manuscripts should include the following three major sections:
 - (i) Title page: should contain the title of the paper, name of author(s), institutional affiliation, present position and complete address (including telephone/fax and e-mail).
 - (ii) Abstract: should be between 250–300 words consisting of a list of keywords (up to five keywords).
 - (iii) Main body and references: do not include the author's information in the full manuscript so as to facilitate the blind review process.
- 1.3 SEARCH emphasizes linguistic accuracy of every manuscript published. As such, authors are required to get their manuscripts edited by professional English language editors.
- 1.4 A biodata of not more than 50 words should be included at the end of the manuscript.

- 1.5 The manuscript must cite at least a paper previously published in the SEARCH Journal.
- 1.6 Please provide us with suggestions of at least TWO (2) possible reviewers with full information of their postal and e-mail addresses, telephone numbers, and fax numbers. The reviewers elected by the Editor may, of course, not necessarily be from that list.

This Journal practices a double-blind peer review policy. The Editorial Board may exercise its prerogative to reject a manuscript without peer review if that article is judged to be outside the scope of the journal, poorly written, badly formatted or lacking in significance.

The Editorial Board may also exercise its right to reject a manuscript at any stage in the pre-publication process if it is not in accordance with the journal's publishing policies or preparation guidelines.

2. MANUSCRIPT PREPARATION

2.1 Preparation of Text

SEARCH invites contributions of empirical research papers between 5,000 – 7,000 words (excluding reference list and appendix).

The manuscript should be written with the following elements in the following order: title page; abstract; keywords; main text introduction, materials and methods, results, discussion; acknowledgments; declaration of interest statement; references; appendices (as appropriate); table(s) with caption(s) (on individual pages); figures; figure captions (as a list)

The manuscript should be in British English and the format adhered to as prescribed in the APA (American Psychological Association, 6th edition) reference style.

2.2. Authorship and Affiliations

Authors should attest that all persons designated as authors qualify for authorship, and all those who qualify are listed. All co-authors should have seen and approved of the final version of the paper and agreed to its submission for publication. Only appropriate co-authors are included in the paper.

Please provide the affiliation of each author and complete mailing address of the institution where the work was conducted. Please denote the corresponding author with an asterisk (*) and provide the email address of the corresponding author.

2.3 Title

Title should be as concise as possible but informative enough to facilitate information retrieval. Abbreviations should be avoided when constructing a manuscript title. A manuscript title should not be more than 50 words.

2.4 Abstract

The abstract should be between 250–300 words. The abstract should give a clear, concise and informative summary with scope and purpose, significant results and major conclusions as well as an indication of any new findings. It should be a stand-alone document that can be understood without reading the full manuscript. Abstract should not contain literature citations that refer to the main list of references attached to the complete article nor allusions to the illustrations.

2.5 Keywords

Keywords are to facilitate the retrieval of articles by search engines and will be used for indexing purposes, therefore do not use general terms. Provide 5 specific and suitable keywords related to the manuscript.

2.6 Acknowledgement

Acknowledgement creates an opportunity for the author to express appreciation to people involved in the research and preparation of manuscript. All contributors who do not meet the authorship criteria should be listed in 'Acknowledgement'. These can include those who provided purely technical assistance or writing facilitation.

Acknowledgement should also include the source of funding, where the funding agency is written in full followed by the grant number. Multiple grant numbers should be separated by commas. Funding acknowledgment can be written in the format below.

Example: This work was supported by World Health Organization [grant number xxxx].

Acknowledgement should be included only after the paper has been accepted for publication.

2.7 Images, Illustrations, Tables, Photos and Other Supplementary Materials

Authors are welcome to submit digital supplementary materials, e.g., figures, images, maps, diagrams, photos, etc., together with their manuscript. All the materials must come with appropriate captions. Each author is responsible for acquiring copyright of complimentary materials and providing a letter of permission from the appropriate party (for instance institution, publisher, person, archives, etc.) at the same time the manuscript is sent.

Without the aforesaid official permission, such illustrations may not be featured if the manuscript is accepted for publication.

Illustrations submitted should be as separate digital files, not embedded in the text. The files should follow these guidelines:

- 300 dpi or higher in pixel size.
- Sized to fit on page with measurement of 15.2 cm (5 in) × 21.5 cm (7.5 in).
- JPEG, TIFF or EPS format only.

Tables must be prepared using MS Word or MS Excel, and fully editable with the same software. Please do not submit tables as embedded images in the manuscript. Additionally, authors should not provide the tables in tab-delimited form. Proper rows and columns must be constructed, with data inserted using a minimum font size of 8 pt. A table width must not exceed 5 inches. Authors are responsible for making the necessary re-organization and re-structuring of tables whenever it exceeds 5 inches.

3. PROOFS AND PUBLICATION

Proofs, prior to final publication, will be sent to corresponding authors via email in PDF format. It is, therefore, essential that all submissions contain the e-mail address of the corresponding author. To avoid delays in publication, proofs should be checked immediately for typographical errors and returned as instructed in the proof e-mail.

4. COPYRIGHT POLICY

Upon acceptance of an article, authors will be asked to transfer copyright. This transfer is to facilitate the widest possible dissemination of information. A notification email will be sent to the corresponding author confirming receipt of the manuscript. A form facilitating transfer of copyright can be obtained from the journal's website. If excerpts from other copyrighted works are included, the author(s) must obtain written permission from the copyright owners and credit the source(s) in the article.

5. OPEN ACCESS POLICY

All contents of the journal are freely available without charge to the user or his/her institution. Users are allowed to read, download, copy, distribute, print, search, or link to the full texts of the articles in this journal.
